Wednesday (Odd block @ HS) - Physical Training (9th grade may differ)

Thursday - (Even Block @ HS) Physical Training (9th grade may differ)

Friday - Academics/ Drill / Instructors preference(9th grade may differ)

Course Grading: Academics (50%) Classwork, quizzes, tests: . Military Bearing (50%):
Uniform Inspections, Military Drill, Weekly Physical Training, Program Aptitude

Military Drill. Drill is designed to develop teamwork, attention to detail, and precision. There is great value in the lessons taught through close-order drills. We will use this time to enhance individual and group skills, as well as to practice for upcoming parades, inspections, and formal outings occurring throughout the school year.

Uniform Inspections. Uniforms are generally worn every Tuesday but may also be prescribed on other occasions. This is a mandatory requirement of the program. Not wearing your uniform as required will result in a “zero” for the week. You may wear it the next school day to receive a maximum grade of “50.” If you are absent on a uniform day, you must wear your uniform the first day you return to school. The uniform you are issued is an official Navy uniform, with only minor modifications. When you wear it, you represent yourself, your fellow Cadets, Lee County NJROTC, and the U. S. Navy to all who see you; prepare accordingly. Those receiving a uniform grade 70 for the semester, will typically be dis-enrolled from the NJROTC program.

Grooming Standards. Along with the requirement to properly wear the NJROTC uniform on a weekly basis, proper grooming standards must also be maintained. Specific standards for male and female cadets are provided in the Cadet Field/Reference Manuals. Generally speaking, while in uniform, male cadets should have their hair not longer than 4 inches in length and 2 inches in bulk, while tapered around their ears and the neck. This generally requires most male cadets to regularly cut their hair. Female cadets are required to have their hair up in a pony-tail, bun, braids, or the like, so that their hair is not hanging more than 3 inches below the collar of their uniform. Female cadets are NOT required to cut their hair. Other faddish styles, such as partially shaved or unnatural hair colors are also not permitted while in uniform. Cadets who do not maintain proper grooming standards will not be permitted to wear their uniform and will be graded accordingly.

Physical Training (PT). PT is required for all cadets, unless medically excused. Cadets are expected to perform stretching, calisthenics, and walking/running type exercises. Cadets must bring running shoes and NJROTC PT clothing to class on PT days. Cadets will not be allowed to PT if not in athletic attire and will receive a “0” for the day. Not wearing the prescribed PT clothing will result in a less than full credit grade. Unsatisfactory PT grades cannot be made up and will not be accepted late. Expect to be outdoors when the weather is suitable; dress accordingly. You will only be excused from PT with a note, email, or phone call from a parent or guardian prior to the scheduled PT session or if a limitation is noted in your Standard Release, Health Risk Screening.

LCSS Physical. All cadets will participate in the physical fitness test each semester unless medically excused. PFT requirements/grading will be promulgated in class. LCSS Sports Physicals are required to participate in Navy JROTC. Students who do not have a current LCSS sports physical at the end of each semester will be dis-enrolled from the program. Additionally, students cannot participate in our semi-annual physical fitness test, resulting in a “zero” for this test grade. Take advantage of Free Physicals at the end of the school year.

Current Events. We will discuss current events/issues, as they relate to our Navy, military, national security, government, or other areas related to the NJROTC curriculum. Students will be required to periodically turn-in a handwritten or typed summary of their current event, to include three paragraphs. The first will discuss basic facts, the second how it relates to Navy JROTC, and the last will discuss how it may affect you now or in the future and/or your opinion of your selected event. Be prepared to discuss your current event with the class.

Military/Program Aptitude and School Community Involvement. Aptitude is a cadet’s willingness, level of effort, and attitude in completing the requirements of the Navy JROTC program. Their bearing and conduct in and out of uniform, timeliness, respect for constituted authority, and conforming to the rules and regulations of both the Navy JROTC program and our school are all important factors in Military/Program Aptitude. Aptitude may be physical or mental and represents knowledge or ability that is gained through learning. 50% (5 points) earned by each cadet are subjective based on the items listed above. The remaining 50% (5 points) will be based on service hours performed. School and community service are a large portion of the Navy JROTC program. As a result, it is expected that Cadets will complete a minimum level of service-related activities. Cadets are encouraged to complete as many NJROTC related service hours as possible but are required to complete at least ten hours per semester. Cadets will earn 1 point on their aptitude grade for each 2 hours of community service performed during each semester; 10 or more service hours will yield the maximum 5pts. Cadets must complete at least five community service hours per school year to remain an active member of the program.

Personal Advancement Requirements (PARS). Cadets MUST continually work toward enhancing their standing within the NJROTC program. This is accomplished, in part, through advancement to the next higher rank via the completion of PARS. Cadets should successfully advance at least once per year to remain enrolled in the NJROTC program. Cadets will receive two test grades per semester based on their level of PARS completion. Cadets who fail to complete and/or turn-in PARS, will typically be disenrolled from the program.
